EXPECTATION WHY & BEHAVIORS

Sales Plan

Why:

- Sales plan is meeting our financial obligation to the organization.

Behavior:

- Consistently engage with customers to identify their wants and needs and educate them on all the services we offer. When you're not assisting a customer, reach out from the kiosk or lease line to create additional sales opportunities. The expected effort factors below are all drivers to help you achieve sales plan.

Piercing Plan

Why:

- Piercings are at the core of our business and give customers a reason to come in store and shop with us. You can't get pierced virtually!

Behavior:

- Mention piercings with every customer to educate everyone on the services we offer. Make it fun and engaging, ask what style of piercings they've been thinking about getting lately.

ESA %

Why:

- This offers our customers peace of mind when purchasing jewelry with us. They can leave today knowing that their value is protected.

ESA Attachment

Why:

- ESA Units divided by Eligible Merch Units. Eligible merch includes all eligible merchandise sold through a store. Includes AOS/BOPIS & Progressive transactions.

Behavior:

- Offering this service throughout the sales presentation with every customer is critical to ensuring we are providing consistent experiences.

Payment Option Apps to Opportunities

Why:

- Number of apps divided by sale transactions that are eligible for a PO application.
- Note: In instances where a customer has applied for both through the POS Waterfall process, only the ADS app will be reflected.

Behavior:

- Offering this service throughout the sales presentation with every customer is critical to ensuring we are providing consistent experiences.

PO Mix %

Why:

- Measures that we are maximizing on the potential buying power given to the customer.

Behavior:

- Taking the PO approval and providing the customer with all the benefits of each option to maximize each transaction.

Conversion

Why:

- Creating a lifelong customer who shops at Banter for all jewelry needs.

Behavior:

- Wearing or having your iPad in hand at all times ensures you are ready to check in your guest and set up any appointments that benefit them.
- Ensuring all stylists have active accounts, join campaigns and share their store front link in clienteling outreach and interactions.
